

1. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

The next movie, the last one in the series, comes out soon.

2. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Ari's dog is very loud.
It's a husky.

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use two commas to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

One of my aunts Jada plays guitar.

Use a comma to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

Does this come in my favorite color?

5. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

I'm doing a report on Palau, a small island in the Pacific.

6. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

My best friend is moving away. His name is Grady

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use two commas to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

That store Hat Hideaway just opened.

Use two commas to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

Aiden's school is closed today.

9. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

Okapis, relatives of giraffes, are Anjali's favorite animal.

10. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Dad's car is old. It's a blue pickup truck

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use two commas to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

Jupiter the biggest planet is made of gas.

Use a comma to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

John ordered his favorite dessert.

13. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

I want to visit Australia, the world's smallest continent.

14. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Saige's favorite poem is short. It's called

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use a comma to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

That's the art teacher Mrs. Benitez.

Use two commas to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

The new drink flavor is great.

17. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

You should ask Mr. Wagner, the English teacher.

18. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Karl Drais made the first bicycle. He was a German.

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use two commas to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

Gia's pet a gerbil is adorable.

Use two commas to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

The main character is my age.

21. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

The story is about Achilles, a Greek hero.

22. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Makenna loves musicals. She is Luka's sister.

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use a comma to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

It's made of a special rock obsidian.

Use a comma to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

That's Ibrahim's best friend.

25. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

Ashlynn was vacuuming, her least favorite chore.

26. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Kangaroos live in Australia. They are the largest

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Use a comma to offset the nonrestrictive appositive.

That's the newest book the third one.

Use two commas to add a nonrestrictive appositive for the underlined antecedent.

One of Koda's dogs had puppies.

29. Appositives

Identify the appositive.

Jamari,
my math tutor,
is three years
older than me.

30. Appositives

Combine the sentences into one sentence using a nonrestrictive appositive.

Example:

Inky is black. He's the smaller cat.

Inky, the smaller cat, is black.

Fall is beautiful.
It's our favorite season

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

Name: _____

Task Cards: Appositives

Identify the appositive or write the full, correctly punctuated sentence.

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

9. _____

10. _____

11. _____

12. _____

13. _____

14. _____

15. _____

Name: _____

Task Cards: Appositives

Identify the appositive or write the full, correctly punctuated sentence.

16. _____

17. _____

18. _____

19. _____

24. _____

25. _____

26. _____

27. _____

28. _____

29. _____

30. _____

ANSWER KEY

Task Cards: Appositives

Identify the appositive or write the full, correctly punctuated sentence.

1. the last one in the series
2. Ari's dog, a husky, is very loud.

13. the world's smallest continent
14. Saige's favorite poem, "Fire and Ice," is short.
15. That's the art teacher, Mrs. Benitez.

ANSWER KEY

Task Cards: Appositives

Identify the appositive or write the full, correctly punctuated sentence.

16. Answers must follow form: The new drink flavor, [flavor], is great.

17. the English teacher

28. Answers must follow form: One of Koda's dogs, [name/breed], had puppies.

29. my math tutor

30. Fall, our favorite season, is beautiful.